Existing businesses are not creating enough jobs to address the needs of California’s workers. Self-employment is an emerging labor market trend as more and more job-seekers turn to entrepreneurship to create their own jobs and kickstart the economy.

CAMEO is California’s premiere provider network for workforce development professionals who are serving or want to serve entrepreneurs in this emerging, innovative market. You’ll receive best-in-class training for One-Stop/WIB staff to identify and serve successful entrepreneurs in your community. And, CAMEO connects you to local partners in self-employment training, technical assistance and small business loans to ensure your clients launch on the right foot.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP TRAINING FOR ONE-STOPS AND WIBS

To help California’s businesses start and thrive, they need three things: business coaching and training, small amounts of capital, and connections to customers. Our state has a strong infrastructure of non-profit business training programs and microlenders who stand ready to help the new labor force.

Our training module provides a substantive orientation to entrepreneurship training and business assistance services for the WIB and EDD staff responsible for making assessments and referrals of persons seeking self-employment. Staff training is key to integrating self-employment opportunities into the Workforce system.
